

C O N T E N T S

Acknowledgments	xi
Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction	xv
From Ethics to Politics	xvi
The Need for a Prophetic Politics	xxvi
1 Death, Escape, and Thinking beyond Being	1
Ethics and the Prophetic	6
Heidegger, Death, and Sacrifice	12
2 Play and Responsibility	23
The Third	24
Maturity and Self-Delimitation	31
Two Forms of Play	35
Existence and Existents	38
The “There Is”	44
Position	50
Bergson	53
3 The Philosophical Ethics of Totality and Infinity	61
A Caricature of a Position	61
The “Source” of Ethics	62
Rosenzweig	65
The Ethical Turn	67
Totality and Infinity	75
The Feminine	86
Adieu to Totality and Infinity	92
4 The Turning Point: “Violence and Metaphysics”	95
The Worst Violence	95
The Self-Contradiction of Totality and Infinity	97
Derrida	100

	The Violence of Philosophy	103
	The Death of Philosophy	110
	Necessity and Essence	114
5	Tradition and Finite Freedom	117
	MacIntyre's View of Selfhood	118
	Levinas as a Corrective to MacIntyre	120
	Husserl	129
	Ethics and Genetic Phenomenology	137
	The Said and the Saying	143
	Skepticism	149
6	The Political Reversal of Substitution	152
	Charles Taylor: Articulation and Ethics	155
	A Levinasian Response to Taylor	167
	Ideology and Disinterestedness	170
	Justice and Prophecy	175
	The Prophetic	181
7	Justice and Incommunicable Suffering	183
	Introduction: Law in Plato's Republic	183
	Alterity	186
	Idealism	191
	Law and Politics	198
	Gillian Rose	201
	The Self Is Beyond Being	208
	Height as the Soul of Law	210
	Notes	217
	Bibliography	263
	Index	279