
CONTENTS

List of Tables	vii
Preface and Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
The Problem Itself
1. Buying the Farm
The Midwest, Midwestern Farmers, and the Origins of a Regional Consumer Heritage, 1825–1860	12
2. Breaking the Prairie and Taming the Market
The Formation of a Consumer Ethos in the Rural Midwest	31
3. The Men in the Middle
Agents and the Development of a Demand-Driven Consumer Economy, 1840–1861	66
4. An All-Consuming Vision
The Expression of Rural Consumer Ideology, 1865–1875	94
5. Town v. Country
Advertising and Consumer Patterns, 1865–1880	132
6. A Battle of Standards
The Renunciation of the Rural Consumer Ethos by the Patrons of Husbandry, 1875–1882	161
7. Mail Order
The Commercialization of the Rural Consumer Ethos, 1873–1906	184
Conclusion	216
Appendix 1: Delaware County Granges	221
Appendix 2: Advertisements	227
Notes	233
Index	279