

CONTENTS

	List of Illustrations	ix
	Acknowledgments	xi
	A Note on Names	xv
	Introduction	i
PART I	Languages, Tropes, and Landscape in the Beginnings of English Language Poetry
One	Contact Poetics in Eighteenth-Century Calcutta Sir William Jones, Sir John Horsford, and Anna Maria	17
Two	Bards and Sybils Landscape, Gender, and the Culture of Dispute in the Poems of H. L. V. Derozio and Emma Roberts	63
PART II	The Institutions of Colonial Mimesis, 1830–57
Three	Books, Reading, and the Profession of Letters David Lester Richardson and the Construction of a British Canon in India	101
Four	Sighing, or Not, for Albion Kasiprasad Ghosh, Michael Madbusudan Dutt, and Mary Carshore	137
PART III	Nationalisms, Religion, and Aestheticism in the Late Nineteenth Century
Five	From Christian Piety to Cosmopolitan Nationalisms The Dutt Family Album and the Poems of Mary E. Leslie and Toru Dutt	181
Six	Cosmopolitanism, Nationalism, and Aestheticism in Fin-de-Siècle London Manmohan Ghose, Sarojini Naidu, and Rabindranath Tagore	227
	Epilogue	268
	Notes	281
	Bibliography	309
	Index	325