

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Series Editors' Preface	xi
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction
Settler Illinois as a Developing Democracy	I
1 Illinois in 1839
Land of Worth and Accommodation	11
2 Joseph Smith and the New Politics of Belief	44
3 Saints and Suckers in the Settler State	79
4 Nauvoo Prophecies in the Hancock Status Order	119
5 Performing Citizenship in the House of Power	160
6 Religious Toleration and Political Ideology in the Illinois Regime	203
7 Thomas Ford and the Politics of Civic Worth	245
Conclusion
The Perils of Democratic Storytelling	284
Notes	307
Bibliography	385
Index	413